Lomond Gophers Infected With Bubonic Plague

Residents of East District Warned Not To Handle Gophers

A report from Lethbridge states that gophers infected with bubonic plague have been found in the Lomond district, 30 miles east of Vulcan.

J. H. Brown, Entomologist for the Provincial Department of Public Health said in an interview that laboratory test results just received of gophers found in that area revealed the menace. Previously it had been found in gophers in more northerly sections of the province.

Entomological survey crews under Mr. Brown's direction and headed by C. E. Collins, cover the province each year, looking both for gophers with plague infestation and for ticks which carry the spotted fever germ.

Residents of the Lomond district have been warned not to handle gophers. They have been urged to carry out an extermination campaign to either shoot or poison the infected rodents.

Surveys also have shown that gophers in the Gleichen area are infested with the plague.

Alston Residents Honor Two Couples

A joint shower was held at the Alston hall for two popular couples, Mr. and Mrs. E. Williams and Mrs. and Mrs. H. Hagg, on Monday evening.

The former Misses Audrey and Lorraine Syme were teachers at the Alston school.

Mrs. D. Galbraith was hostess assisted by friends.

Entertainment included a soft ball game between Alston and Kirkcaldy. Following this a program of several musical numbers and community singing took place in the hall. Hartley MacDonald and R. Flitten supplied the music for several dance numbers.

D. Galbraith acting as master of ceremonies, placed the happy couples each at a long table, decorated with pink and white streamers, and laden with beautiful wrapped gifts.

Mrs. J. O'Reilly assisted Mr. and Mrs. H. Hagg in opening their gifts and Miss Syme of Granum assisted Mr. and Mrs. E. Williams in opening their gifts.

The gifts were then displayed on the tables for the guests to view. Music was played by Mrs. D. Galbraith during the opening of the parcels.

The guests of honor very suitably thanked their many friends for their good wishes and handsome gifts. The crowd then joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

The hostess, Mrs. Galbraith, and friends served lunch to over seventy-five guests in the basement of the hall. Dancing was continued after supper to the music supplied by Don Mallory and R. Flitten.

Frank's Cafe Changes Hands

Announcement is made elsewhere in this issue that Frank's Cafe has changed hands. The new proprietors are Sang Leong On Gar Lang Jung and Yun Yue Leong, all from Calgary and all with many years of experience in the restaurant business.

They will continue to operate the business under the name of Frank's Cafe and will endeavour to give service that will please both old and new customers.

Mr. and Mrs. Chow, owners and operators of the business for the past ten years, will continue to reside in Vulcan for the present.

Lions Club Plans Picnic on Sunday

An annual event, the Vulcan Lions Club picnic will be held this year at Park Lake on Sunday, July 31, and a large attendance is expected.

Members and their wives will bring their own lunch and ice cream and soft drinks will be provided at the camp grounds.

Williams-Syme Wedding Rites

The Norwegian Lutheran Church in Claresholm was decorated with garden flowers on July 16 for the ceremony that united in marriage Audrey Syme, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Syme of Granum, and Samuel Evan Williams, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Williams of the Parkland district. Rev. Eichenlaub of Lethbridge officiated.

The bride, wearing a rust colored suit and white hat, with corsage of gardenias, was escorted to the altar by her father. A cousin, Miss Myrtle Fleming of Calgary, was bridesmaid. She wore a grey suit with white accessories. Robert Williams attended his brother as groomsmen and the ushers were Howard Hagg and William Fleming.

Following the ceremony a reception for forty guests was held in the Granum hall. Miss Shirley Syme played the wedding music and accompanied her sister, Miss Patricia Syme, when the latter sang during the signing of the register and at the reception.

Now Digging Laterals For Water-Sewer System

.58 Inch of Rain On Wednesday

A near-cloudburst about five o'clock Wednesday afternoon, followed by three hours of steady, soaking rain brought much-desired moisture to this area this week and assured sufficient moisture for filling-out of the crop.

Although the storm varied in intensity throughout the district it was fairly general from Carleton Place south past Carmangay, getting lighter towards the west.

Coming at a crucial stage in the crop growing season the rain was very welcome and considerably increased estimated crop yields in this district.

Sewer and Water Mains Completed; Good Progress Made

Excavating work in connection with Vulcan's water and sewer project is nearing completion, with all water and sewer mains laid and the big ditching machine now working on the laterals leading into homes and business places.

About half the laterals have already been dug and it is noteworthy that all householders served by the mains have, to date signified their intention of connecting up with the water and sewer system and have had the laterals put in to their homes.

It is anticipated that a few more days work will complete construction of the sewage disposal plant on the east side of town.

Good progress is being made in all phases of the construction work which is now well ahead of schedule, and the date when Vulcan will be completely served by its own water and sewer system is not far off.

Extend Highway From Champion North To Vulcan?

A reliable report indicates that the Department of Public Works is now considering extending the new Highway 23 from Champion to Vulcan this year.

There is no further news concerning the twelve miles of highway north of Vulcan to the Corner Store, but it is expected that work on the Vulcan-Champion stretch will be under way in the near future.

J. W. B. Farr Is Laid To Rest

John Wray Burdette Farr, aged 44, died in the Vulcan hospital on Friday, July 22, following a lengthy illness.

Manager of the Vulcan Treasury Branch, he was well liked and respected by all who knew him and was an enthusiastic curler.

Born at Woodridge, Ont., he attended school in Toronto before moving to Medicine Hat. Upon completion of his schooling there he taught school for one year and then joined the Royal Bank of Canada at that city. In the following years he was a member of the Royal Bank staff at High River, Blackie, Grande Prairie, Alix, Three Hills and Calgary and in 1942 was married to Miss Edna Margaret Rea of Stavely.

In 1943 he came to Vulcan as manager of the Provincial Treasury Branch and had resided here since.

Besides his wife at Vulcan he is survived by one sister, Mrs. Percy Yeo at Medicine Hat. He was predeceased by his parents and by a brother, Stan, who died at Vancouver last year.

Arrangements were in charge of the Snodgrass Funeral Home.

SWIMMING CLASSES

Will you attend the classes regularly? .....

No milk will be poured in this little boy's cup if the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF), threatened by a lack of funds, is forced to halt its operations. UNICEF, now feeding supplementary meals to 5,000,000, has scarcely enough money to finish out its planned program for this year. But the hungry children will still be with us then.

Those Cheaper U.S. Goods

(From Farm and Ranch Review)

It is possible today to buy enough sheets for two or three beds in the States for what it costs Canadians for one bed. Canadian cigarettes are just about double the American price. Canadian hardware and electrical goods are away above the American level. Adults and children's clothes not only are superbly styled below the line, but sell for half comparable Canadian prices. Women's stockings and shoes are away below the Canadian level.

Price is one thing. Variety is another. For every item offered for sale in the United States there is half a dozen competing lines. Americans have a wide choice at lower prices. Canadians have a restricted choice at higher prices.

All this reminds us that the nations of Western Europe are moving steadily toward complete customs unions. They have come to understand that their economic recovery and future prosperity depends upon complete eradication of trade barriers. Every benefit that would accrue to the people of Western Europe through a customs union would

Our Blessed Condition

(Cardston News)

We wonder if people of this district realize the blessed condition they live in? Compare our lot. Calgary to Edmonton is very dry, feed short, crops very poor and winter just around the corner. True, they have a lot of oil (in places) but that is not food. In England they are in the throes of a labor disruption that threatens the very life of the nation. After fighting the war of wars they are short of money. After experimenting with socialism for several years they are not faring so well. We are infinitely better off, than the European continental countries. Even in the good old USA, as some call it, over 5,000,000 people are out of work. True, wages are not being cut yet, but what's the difference—no work.

There comes now to our desk a clipping from one of the Australian papers. We have learned of the really serious conditions there, also because of labor strikes, etc. Listen to the following and then let us be thankful for the place we now live in and persistently boost our town and province and country. We copy:

How Strike Affects Us:

ELECTRICITY—None available to housewives or industry. Only hospitals and other essential services supplied.

GAS—Present domestic supplies cover meal periods. Bigger cuts if strike is prolonged. Present times are: Weekdays—6 am to 8 am; 11:30 am to 1:30 pm; 4:30 pm to 7 pm; weekends—7 am to 9 am; 10:30 am to 1 pm; 5 pm to 7 pm.

TRAMS AND TROLLEY BUSES—None. Forty-seven Government buses are operating on normal tram and trolley routes. Private buses are picking up extra passengers.

TRAINS—Cut to one third normal on both metropolitan and country runs. Suburban runs get regular services in peak periods.

available. Legumes should not be seeded in the fall of the year unless it is done in October after the possibility of germination is past. Legumes that germinate in the fall are almost certain to winter-kill.

Fall seeding should be avoided on land where soil drifting might occur. On dry loose land it would be wiser to delay seeding until early spring or until soil moisture is adequate. Fall seeding into stubble is usually safer than seeding into summer-fallow.

FREE BULLETIN AVAILABLE: Detailed information of forage crop management may be found in the Alberta Department of Agriculture Circular No. 63, "Selection and Seeding of Grasses and Legumes in Alberta." Copies may be obtained from District Agriculturalists, Field Supervisors or from the Extension Service, Alberta Department of Agriculture.

CARE OF SHELTER BELTS When farm shelterbelts lose their efficiency to break the force of the wind due to gaps occurring in the ranks, it is time to take steps to remedy the trouble. In fact, loss of efficiency should be anticipated with shelterbelts up to 25 to 30 years old, and forward-looking planters will not wait until trees are dead before adopting measures to renew or replace them, says John Walker, Superintendent, Forest Nursery Station, Indian Head, Saskatchewan.

Shelterbelts originally containing eight or more rows of trees may be renewed in vigor by removing two or more centre rows of trees. After this is done plans should be made to keep strips which have been cleared of trees well cultivated and free from weeds so that the remaining trees may be stimulated to make strong growth.

Should young trees be planted in gaps in shelterbelts after large dead trees are removed? Usually conditions in old shelterbelts are not favorable for young trees to make much headway when planted in such places. They may persist and develop quite satisfactorily provided replanted areas are fairly large and sufficient light and moisture are available for the young trees. Even young White Spruce trees may survive under such circumstances if planted when and where conditions are favorable.

Generally speaking, however, the renewal or replacement of an old shelterbelt is best done by setting out a new shelterbelt before the old one thins out too much. Land should be prepared for the new belt in the recommended manner, either within the old or beyond it. In most cases room will have to be found beyond the old belt, and, of course, parallel to it.

In any event, no planting should be attempted closer than eighteen feet to the established trees which are to be replaced.

FALL FORAGE CROP HINTS

Forage crops that were seeded last spring without a nurse crop may have produced a fairly heavy stand by mid-August or may have had weeds growing in them. J. E. Birdsall, Supervisor of crop improvement, says that in either case the crop could have been mowed in August without danger of damaging the stand. If it was not done then, however, it should not be mowed in September or winter killing is likely to result.

New stands of forage crops should never be pastured in the first year. The young plants are not anchored firmly enough to withstand that kind of treatment. Even when a stand is well established as in the second or subsequent years, close pasturing in the fall before freeze-up may result in winter killing. Pasturing after freeze-up will not affect the winter hardiness of the stand. Removal of the top growth may of course result in less snow cover.

SEEDING IN THE FALL:

Grasses, particularly crested wheat grass, are often seeded in the fall of the year. If the seeding has not been done by September 15th, it should be delayed until between October 1st and 15. The early seeded grass will germinate and over-winter satisfactorily while October seeded grass will be in the ground ready to germinate in the early spring and make full use of the moisture that is

Farm Receipts Show Increase

Preliminary figures issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics in July, indicate that during the first three months of 1949, farmers receipts from the sale of farm products amounted to $406,386,000 as compared with $380,006,000 in 1948 and $333,779,000 in 1947, a gain of 6.9 per cent and 21.7 per cent respectively.

Compared with a year ago, cash income from the sale of field crops at $133,873,000 for the first quarter of 1949, was up more than 20 per cent. This increase can be largely attributed to the increases in the marketings of the five principal grains and a higher price for wheat. Income from the sale of livestock and livestock products at $264,776,000 for the January-Mar. period of this year is relatively unchanged from that of the same period of 1948. With the exception of cattle and calves, the 1949 marketings of livestock were down this year as against last. Prices on the other hand were, without exception higher than a year ago, with the index of livestock prices indicating an overall increase of more than 20 per cent.

Improvement Is Seen In Teacher Education

Fifteen hundred teachers started Summer School in the faculty of Education at the University of Alberta, this week. Thus 27% of Alberta's 5700 teachers are back at school again to spend six weeks of their summer holidays furthering their education towards a University degree.

"Alberta's teacher educational system is unique," explained Eric C. Ansley, Secretary of the Alberta Teachers' Association, "in that Alberta is the only province in Canada where all teacher training is in the University and where all educational courses are credited towards a University degree."

Mr. Ansley pointed out that one in every five of Alberta's teachers now have University degrees, and that the average University training of each of the province's 5700 teachers is 1.3 years. "This is a remarkable advance in teacher qualification," said Mr. Ansley.

This trend on the part of members of the teaching profession to widen their educational background, and to make themselves more able teachers, Mr. Ansley attributes to remuneration recognizing training and experience.

"Now the teacher can see a future in teaching. It can become a profession, a life work, offering a degree of security and permanence. Our system of teacher education is good," he continued, "and with it our system of increasing remuneration for improved qualifications adds the necessary incentive. After one year training in the University Faculty of Education a teacher can teach, and then go on and obtain a Bachelor degree in 6 to 8 years of summer school. While this is going on, in most salary schedules, the teacher is allowed annual increases as extra qualifications are added. Thus, in the teaching profession, advancement with salary increases has become comparable with advancement in commercial life gradual increased remuneration for service and knowledge."

"A further incentive, too, has been added now with the proposed certification of teachers, and we are confident that if the present trend towards better salaries and better teaching conditions continues, it will not be long before the teacher shortage will be materially reduced, and teacher qualifications improved far beyond the present 1.3 year average University training."

DEFENCE AGAINST ATOMIC WARFARE:

New devices specially designed to detect the presence of harmful rays following the explosion of atomic bombs were demonstrated in Britain recently. They were shown at the opening of the Government civil defence training school. The latest defence measures against atomic warfare are being taught at this college to men and women from all parts of Britain. After completing their training they will act as a nucleus of instructors for recruits to Britain's Civil Defence Corps. Instruction is based on the lessons learned from the scientific study of atomic warfare and a close liaison is maintained between the college and the national atomic research station.

Winter Wheat Improvement

Winter wheat improvement was the subject of discussion when plant breeders, cereal chemists, pathologists, physiologists, field husbandry men, and entomologists from various Experimental Stations and Research Laboratories met recently at Lethbridge. A comprehensive program of research was outlined to study winter wheat problems and to breed improved varieties of this crop. Much of this work will be conducted in the research laboratories at Lethbridge.

A study of the root rot diseases of winter wheat will be made with the object of finding varieties resistant to this disease and in developing cultural practices to lessen the severity of the damage. Cultural practices such as the date of seeding in relation to soil moisture content and seeding methods will be given further study particularly in areas where winter wheat is difficult to grow. It is hoped to find varieties that are resistant to sawfly and aphid attack.

In the breeding program attempts will be made to produce improved varieties of both hard red wheat and soft white wheat. In the hard red wheat program, emphasis will be placed on greater winter hardiness, improved disease and insect resistance, non-shattering, earliness and satisfactory bread-making quality. These wheats are designed to be grown on dryland in the open plains area. In the soft wheat program emphasis will be placed on strength of straw, disease resistance, and satisfactory pastry flour properties. These wheats should prove suitable for irrigated land and parts of the foothill areas.

In some cases it will take many years to satisfactorily solve certain of these problems while in other cases results may be obtained in the near future. As results become available they will be passed on to the farmers. Investigations will be continued actively until winter wheat production is on a sound, profitable, and permanent basis in this area.

DON'T BURN THE STRAW

The straw scattered by combines should be worked into the soil and never should be burned. This is the advice given by D. A. Brown of the Dominion experimental farm, Brandon, Manitoba. He says that unless the crop is an extremely heavy one, well spread straw can be surface tilled and a fair to good seed bed prepared.

Furthermore the soil needs organic matter which is lost if the straw is burned. Virgin soils in Manitoba contain 12 to 18 per cent of organic matter. Grain land which has been cropped for 70 years averages from 1 1/2 to 4 per cent in organic matter.

Alberta Sets T. B. Seal Record

Alberta again established several Canadian records in the 1948-49 Christmas Seal sale. It was revealed today by C. Robert Dickey, General Secretary of the Alberta Tuberculosis Association, reporting on the Dominion analysis of the Seal Sale.

Though Alberta is Canada's fifth province in population, the analysis shows that Alberta achieved:

Highest per capita receipts:
Highest % of population on mailing - lists:

Best combination of high % of return on mailing-lists and high % of letters returned with money:

Highest % of population contributing.

Second highest % increase in Seal Sale receipts: (Manitoba 1st)

Second highest increase in dollars: (Quebec 1st)

Third highest increase in returns per letter sent.

Mr. Dickey said, "A related fact, and one that is most gratifying, is that, counting only the white population, our death rate from T.B. is lowest in Canada. Counting in the Indians, our T.B. death rate is third lowest in Canada. Ontario and Saskatchewan have lower death rates than we, but we are slowly and surely overtaking them."

"A very fine measure of co-operation between the medical profession, hospitals, department of health, local, provincial and federal, and the Alberta Tuberculosis Association, has had a great deal to do with the improvement in the tuberculosis situation and the steady decline in T.B. deaths in Alber-

Summer Friends - Fall and Winter Foes

When you see a hawk or owl perched around the farm these days you can be sure that gophers, mice and other rodents on your farm are in for trouble. During spring and summer these winged hunters account for great numbers of grain and produce eating rodents. Owls and Hawks should not be molested or killed during these seasons.

As soon as the rodents hibernate, however, reach for your gun when you see a hawk or owl lurking around. Ten chances to one it is desperately hungry and waiting to pounce on domestic fowl or turkeys. Keep an eye open for these marauders in the late Fall and Winter and shoot to kill if you get one in your sights.

Faculty of Agriculture Offers Full Training

An extract from a booklet, "Your University, 1949," published by the U. of A.

In a great farming and ranching country like Alberta it is obvious that the provincial university should have a Faculty of Agriculture. No duty is more plainly laid upon each generation of Alberta citizens than the duty of handing on to their successors a heritage not merely unspoiled, but enriched. And no part of this duty is clearer or more important than that of treating the actual soil of the province with respect and intelligence.

Researches carried on in the university farm have solved and will solve many of the problems of the farmer and rancher; and the graduates of the Faculty of Agriculture carry out from the university every year to the different parts of Alberta new skills and new ideas to the benefits of themselves and others. It was said over two hundred years ago that "whoever could make two ears of corn or two blades of grass to grow upon a spot of ground where only one grew before" deserved well of mankind. He is still well thought of.

The Faculty of Agriculture seeks by the courses it offers and by the experiments and researches which it carries on to make the growing of crops and the raising of stock in this province more skillful and more profitable. Students are trained in the scientific principles of agriculture. They are taught the planning of farm buildings and farmsteads, the use and value of different kinds of farm machinery. They learn how to distinguish and judge and breed different types and classes of beef cattle, dairy cattle, horses, sheep and swine. They study soils, the diseases of plants, the control of weeds. They receive instruction in the principles and problems of dairying. There are courses in poultry breeding and veterinary science; in the problems of agricultural marketing and in statistics.

The degree of B.Sc. in Agriculture is granted upon the successful completion of a four-year course. In the third and fourth years the course of studies is sufficiently flexible to permit quite a wide variety of options. A student may follow a general course which has been planned to provide a broad training in agriculture; or he may, if he prefers, narrow his course and do a certain amount of specialization in some particular branch of agriculture. A student deeply interested in some branch of agriculture may, if he has the inclination and the ability, go on, after taking his B. Sc. degree, to do more advanced and specialized work for the degree of M. Sc.

Different kinds of work are open to the graduate in agriculture. He may apply what he has learned to the business of practical farming, and find in such work livelihood, interest and opportunity of public service. He may become an extension worker or field man in the employ of either the provincial or dominion department of agriculture, assisting the farmers of a particular area with advice and information. Other graduates may become teachers in the provincial schools of agriculture, or in the newly organized composite high schools which offer options in agriculture.

There is also much to be done by trained men for such commercial organizations as the packing companies, grain companies, and for the companies which make and sell farm machinery. For the graduate with the right kind of ability there is opportunity for a career in research work with such organizations as the National Research Council, the Dominion Experi-

Do Farmers Need Advice?

After climbing up through the welter of advice to farmers which deluges a newspaper office, we look out and see the farmers doing all right without this advice.

This brings up the question of how much practical good is done by all the government agencies that are supposedly serving the farmer. Although he is exposed to radio talks newspaper articles and farm magazines in directing him along proper paths, for the most part he seems to learn by his own experience, and adapts himself to the particular aptitudes of the land which he works. If he were to listen to, or read, all the volume of admonition and instruction he would be in even greater dither than he is.

The scene changes so rapidly from year to year that the farmer usually has to think things out for himself and frame his own policies to realize the best for his land.

This country carries a tremendous overhead in agricultural set-up including federal and provincial departments for every branch of field and animal husbandry; federal and provincial supervision. They are all working hard for the benefit of John Jones. But to what degree does John Jones actually benefit. The soil at the nearest illustration farm may differ considerably from his soil, so he works things out for himself, following certain general principles. In fact two adjoining farms may differ conspicuously in frost susceptibility and such matters. So after all the experiments so painstakingly and systematically carried out have only relative value for the individual farmer. It is more by personal experimentation than by advice that the farmer proves for himself the most profitable type of live stock and best feeding methods.

Watermelons are more than 32 per cent water.

Most of Canada's rivers drain into Hudson Bay and the Arctic Ocean.

More than three quarters of all homes in Canada have a radio, 40 per cent have telephones, 51 per cent have refrigeration and 24 per cent have electric vacuum cleaners.

Mr. Steeves took over this business in November 1948, and he has had over twenty years' experience working around farm machinery, automobiles, and trucks. He is an expert at repairs and carries a large stock of replacement parts at all times.

With the wealth of experience behind it, this establishment is giving continued fine service to the farmers throughout their district. They not only handle a complete line of implements and parts, but make a specialty in helping out farmers whose farm machinery is causing difficulty.

Business houses that are satisfactorily supplying the farmers' needs and that cater particularly to their wants, such as J. G. Steeves, merit favorable comment and it is suggested that you patronize this firm whenever in need of anything in the line of farm implements and supplies.
